Ohio's Share of Charity Fund To Go To Children

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Governor George White today ordered that Ohio's share of receipts from charity football games be distributed among needy school children to alleviate "the pitiful conditions existing in some sections where they are now attending school in rags."

Governor White declared that the allotment of these funds will be turned over to the state relief commission, of which General Henderson is chairman, for distribution.

"Since this fund is made possible by voluntary action of educational institutions it seems to me that its distribution to needy school children in lesser institutions of learning will be most desirable," the governor said.

"As your honorable commission has informed me, there are today 40,000 children in the state of Ohio who will be unable to attend school because of lack of shoes and clothing, or in some cases, sufficient nourishment," he stated.

KING'S RECOVERY THOUGHT CERTAIN

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 23.—The recovery of Ira A. King, sufferer for two weeks from an attack of the hiccoughs, today hinged upon the operation performed yesterday in an attempt to remove the cause of his ailment.

While a "good post-operation condition" was reported for the patient today, his physician, R. R. Black, declared that until enough time had passed to allow a complete reaction to the treatment, it could not be determined whether or not the operation had been successful.

Attendants at General Hospital stated that the hiccoughs were nearly under control, but that they had not ceased entirely.

The operation was performed to eliminate an infection which had been revealed by X-ray examinations. The physicians believed that the infection was the prime cause of the garage owner's affliction.

Many Developments Are Reported Over Past Week on Both Sides

RASKOB PLANS POLL

Democratic Leader Seeks Idea of Party Leaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The storm of controversy raging about prohibition gathered force today with the convening of Congress only two weeks away.

Return of the legislators to the capital apparently inspired both wets and dries to renewed activity along the various fronts.

Outstanding in the week-end developments were:

RASKOB IS ACTIVE

1. John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, sent a questionnaire to all of the 88,580 persons who contributed to the Democratic campaign fund in 1928, seeking yes or no answers to seven questions dealing with the Democratic attitude on prohibition for 1932.

2. The W. C. T. U. announced a vigorous campaign of opposition to re-submission of the 18th amendment to the people. The W. C. T. U. will hold a national conference here next week upon the eve of Congress convening.

3. A group of southern dry Democratic women challenged Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt to amplify his position on prohibition by stating what he proposed to substitute for the 18th amendment if it is repealed.

The Raskob questionnaire treats to cause considerable fore in Democratic ranks, although on the surface it is simply an attempt by the national chairman to elicit the views of the rank and file of the party.

SEEKS OPINIONS

Acting apparently on the theory that those who foot the party bills should at least be given an opportunity to state their views, Chairman Raskob has sent out nearly 90,000 letters to the party contributors asking them to stand up and be counted.

Specifically, Raskob's questionnaire asked:

1. Should the Democratic platform in 1932 contain a definite declaration on prohibition?

2. Should the platform commit Democratic members of Congress to vote for re-submission of the 18th amendment to the people?

3. Should the platform commit the party to ratification of future amendments to the constitution by a vote of the people themselves and not by state legislatures?

4. Should the platform commit Democratic members of Congress

COLD GRIPS WESTERN U.S.

Temperatures as Low as 40 Below Are Recorded; One Death Reported.

temperatures gripped the Rocky Mountain region today from Canada south into New Mexico, with unofficial reports of the mercury as low as 40 degrees below zero in parts of Montana.

One death was reported, that of Juan Magrino, a railroad worker near Gallup, N. M., who was killed when he picked up a high voltage wire broken by the weight of the snow. Traffic on highways and railroads was delayed by heavy snows.

Have, Mont., recorder the lowest official temperature, 18 degrees below zero. Helena, Mont., reported 6 degrees below. Other lows for the past 24 hours included: Leadville, Colo., 4 below; Lander, Wyo., 2 below; Sheridan, Wyo., Miles City, Mont., and Denver, zero; Cheyenne, Wyo., 6 above zero; Salt Lake City, Utah, 12 above zero, and Roswell, N. M., 24 degrees above zero.

TIGERS PUT THREE GRIDDERS ON JOURNAL'S SECOND TEAM

Fail to Get Player on First Eleven of Buckeye League Selections But Place Hundley, Purcell and Rooney on Second.

Can 99,999 football fans be wrong? The answer seems to be 'yes,' or waxing sarcastic, "why not?" Roughly speaking, 99,999 central Ohio football fans opined that Delaware and Marysville, when admitted into the Central Buckeye league late last winter, would prove far too strong for the circuit and would finish one, two in the final standing with monotonous regularity. But 99,999 football fans—for once—were wrong, if one agrees to limit his judgment to the rapidly-fading grid season.

Delaware and Marysville, although far from being weak sisters, failed to break Bexley's and Grandview's dominance of the league and the Lions and Bobcats again shared the championship laurels.

True, Delaware did defeat Bexley, 7-2, in the final game of the season to force the men of Carlton Smith to divide the spoils with Grandview. But didn't the Bobcats win from Delaware before being swamped, 4-0, by the Lions?

A tie with Marysville deprived Delaware, under the direction of Ervin Carlisle, Columbus, of enjoying a deadlock for the crown with Bexley and Grandview.

The Marysville eleven did not fare so badly, finishing in fourth place, Circleville nosed out Westerville for fifth position in the final standing.

Though Grandview is not, by any means, to be robbed of the glory of a co-championship, Bexley is generally conceded to be the most formidable aggregation in the circuit and the Lions scored 122 points to their opponent's seven in five games to bear out the fact that they were the class of the circuit.

Further emphasizing the Bexleyites' superiority over the other five schools are The State Journal's All-Central Buckeye mythical selections.

The Lions place five players on the first team and two on the second. Grandview is next in line with three representatives on each eleven. Then comes Delaware with two and two. Marysville is fourth, having one griddier on each.

Circleville is not represented on the first team but placed three players on the second aggregation. Westerville failed to win a berth on either team.

The selections of Brenning, Pryor, Corcoran, Christian and Phillips on the first eleven were unanimous. Brenning is honored with the captaincy of the team while the second squad's leadership is awarded to Fleming, Delaware center.

Undoubtedly the most outstanding player in the circuit, Brenning, smashing Bexley fullback, deserves the bulk of the credit for the Lion's wonderful showing.

From the Ohio State Journal.

LOCALS LOSE 18-13 GAME

Greenfield's Mastery of Overhead Game Provided Margin in Hot Contest.

Greenfield's football team, with mastering pass attack which baffled the local Merchants' secondary defense, won a hard fought contest here Sunday afternoon by an 18-13 score. Greenfield counted its last touchdown by virtue of two long forward passes with less than a minute to play the last period.

The Merchants started in the lead when Jaggy Davis circled end for 15 yards and a goal. The try for extra point missed. Greenfield then scored twice and the half ended 12-6.

A smash through the center of the line by Gaines Hill gave the Merchants their second touchdown and a fake dropkick with Hill passing to Robinson accounted for the extra point to make the score 13-12.

It looked like a Circleville victory until the last few seconds when Greenfield scored.

Simmons of Greenfield refereed and Hanley of this city umpired.

BUCKNELL HAS ONLY CLEANN MARK IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—On just one eastern college campus were the praises of an undefeated football eleven sung today.

Bucknell, which managed to nip Fordham, 14 to 13, on Saturday, coming from behind, is the sole undefeated squad in the east. But Bucknell has been tied three times, playing even—Stephen affairs against Geneva, Temple and Villanova. Bucknell defeated St. Thomas, Albright, Gettysburg, Georgetown and W and J.

Harvard, the east's major eleven which had a clean record up to last Saturday, was swept out of the picture, 3 to 0, by Yale. Harvard, with Pittsburgh, Colgate, Cornell and Pennsylvania are the major squad beaten only once and tied.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—More than 100 local amateur boxers will compete at Madison Square garden tonight in the first of a series of pre-Olympic tournaments.

Southern California staged a brilliant comeback to win a startling upset after trailing at the end of the third period, 14-0. ONE POINT MARGIN CAUSES DOWNFALL OF PORTSMOUTH

Ernie Nevers Leads Chicago Cardinals to Thrilling 20-19 Victory in Ocean of Mud; Dutch Clark Proves Game's Star; Green Bay Wins.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Chicago's Cardinals, who handed the champion Green Bay Packers their first defeat last week, continued their surprising attack Sunday, walloping the Portsmouth Spartans, 20 to 19, at Wrigley Field.

For thrills, both from successful passes and open field running, the Spartans and the Cardinals delivered as in no other contest in Chicago this year.

The Spartans dashed to a seven-point lead in the first quarter, only to have the Cardinals equal that touchdown and point in the second period and then assume a six-point advantage on a plunge by Nevers before half-time.

Nevers, however, broke his string of eight consecutive place kicks after touchdowns and the Cardinals left the field boasting 13 to 7 advantage.

In the third period the Spartans came back to tie the score. Dutch Clark ran 59 yards through the entire Cardinal team, and Portsmouth failed to obtain a point lead when Glenn Presnell's attempt for a point by placement was wide.

This was the status of the teams when the last quarter started. The Cardinals pulled ahead again when Nevers plunger over. He also added the point to make the score 20 to 13. That point proved to be the deciding factor, for three minutes before the game ended Portsmouth totaled its third touchdown on a forward pass, Clark to Bill McKalip in the Cardinal end zone.

The result hinged on the Portsmouth try for the point. Gene Alford, standing almost ankle deep in the mud, attempted the kick but the ball scarcely left the ground. The Chicago team then had possession of the ball until the final whistle.

Portsmouth, previously defeated by New York and Chicago Bears, needed a victory to keep within striking distance of the leading Packers.

In the early season the Cardinals lost to Portsmouth. They also have been beaten by Green Bay and the Bears. Now the Cards have balanced accounts with Green Bay and the Spartans, and on Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock the Cards will face the Bears at Wrigley Field.

Portsmouth's opening first quarter touchdown was made possible after Harry Ebbing, an end, blocked Nevers' punt and recovered the ball on the Cardinal 34-yard line. The Spartans did not get the score immediately, but they forced the of the valuable foot was found was tried on Ross and fitted him perfectly, police said. One of the hunted men is believed to be Frank "St. Louis" Tufano, a member of Chicago's "12" gang. An automobile, registered under his mother's name, was discovered abandoned a short distance from the Mitchell home.

William H. Mitchell, who was entertaining a group of friends when the bandits entered, is the son of the late John J. Mitchell, millionaire banker. The other victims of the robbery were Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, Mrs. Edward A. Cudaby Jr., Ralph J. Hines, Mrs. Louise Bowen Phelps, and Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair.

Police were summoned to the scene by a chauffeur, William Matheson, who slipped upstairs while the bandits were stripping the women's necks, arms and hands of expensive ornaments and taking cash from the men. A telephone call to headquarters, a squad of police burst in and opened fire. A gun battle ensued in the drawing room, but the robbers succeeded in escaping through windows and doors.

Ross and Perello were arrested on a suburban train and Maentis was taken into custody on a street in Highland park.

BUCKEYES TO MEET GOPHERS SATURDAY

Long Trek to Minneapolis To Begin Wednesday; Team To Stop in Chicago.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Ohio State's 1931 gridiron season will end Saturday when the Buckeye trek to Minneapolis to take on Minnesota. Football relationships between these two schools are "all square" at the present time, each having won one game.

The distance between the two institutions has militated against extensive athletic relationships and only two games have been played, a home-and-home series, in 1921 and 1922.

Ohio State followers will remember the game of 1921 on old Ohio Field. A week before, the Buckeyes had lost to Oberlin 7 to 6. However, the Ohio State team, fighting hard, scored Minnesota by a 27 to 0 score and later succeeded in vanishing Michigan, Chicago and Purdue, losing but one Western Conference game, that with Illinois in the season's finale.

Since the game will be played during the Thanksgiving vacation, the Ohio State squad will leave here Wednesday night and will spend Thanksgiving in Chicago. The team will arrive at Minneapolis early Friday and work out on the Minnesota field.

TERRIER FIGHTS PANTHER

BUENOS AIRES—A fox-terrier is not built to fight panthers, but one of the breed recently tackled life of its mistress and is now almost a national hero. A pet panther broke loose and wandered into a lady's back yard where she was hanging out the family washing. Sensing his mistress' danger, Bobby, the little fox-terrier, proceeded to stalk the panther from the rear. Bobby grabbed him by the tail and started to chew it off. Try as he would the panther could not dislodge his opponent. Finally a well-directed bullet from a policeman's gun ended the fray for the happiness of all concerned—except the panther.

Marketings for October, 1931, totalled 43,242,000 bushels, as compared with 20,034,000 bushels in October, 1929. On October 30, 1931, there were 33,689,000 bushels in store in country elevators on Canadian National Railways compared with 23,435,000 bushels at the corresponding time last year. A total of 52,799,000 bushels of grain were in store at all elevators at the head of the Great Lakes.

ACHIEVEMENT ROUNDUP NOW PLANNED FOR BOY SCOUTS

Organization, plans and instructions have been started for the 1932 Achievement Round-Up of Central Ohio Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. This annual event is one of the largest and most important Boy Scout activities of the year. The dates are from December 1, 1931, to March 13, 1932.

The chief objectives of the 1932 Achievement Round-Up include: 16 New Troops; 700 Net Increase in Scouts; 600 Second Class Scouts; 300 First Class Scouts; Two or More Additional Merit Badges for every First Class Scout. Being a part of the District or County organization, local Scouts will be in line with the county activities. District or County committees have been appointed to proceed with the work. Members of these committees have been made by the County Chairman.

These committees will aid in the enrollment and advancement of Scouts, in co-operation with the Achievement Round-Up. It is the earnest desire of the Round-Up Committee to have a net increase in registered Scouts for Central Ohio Area Council of 700. This will give the Central Ohio Area Council a total registered membership of over 4,200 Scouts. This will make up the second largest Council in Region No. 4, (Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia) and among the first twenty in the United States. This will be something to be proud of.

It is hoped that every Scout in the Council will be alert to bring into the Movement Boys of their acquaintance of clean moral character, and over twelve years of age. Every Troop in the Council should be able to take care of a limited number of additional Scouts.

Boys taken into the Movement during this Round-Up will be known as "Mavericks." They will make their application on special blanks furnished Scoutmasters for this purpose.

Attached to each blank will be a "Maverick" button, which is to be worn by the candidate until the evening of March 26, 1932, at which time he will be invested with the rank of Tenderfoot Scout by a representative of the Chief Scout Executive of the United States as one of the features of the Scout Circuit to be held at the Coliseum, at the State Fair Ground, at Columbus. The other button is known as the "I Roped One" button and is to be awarded to the Scout who secured the Maverick's application as evidence of the fact that he has made his contribution to the Success of the Achievement Round-Up.

SNEEZING FLOCKS FOUND EXPENSIVE

Losses due to colds in the poultry flock may be reduced by guarding against overcrowding, improper ventilation, dampness, insanitation, and drafts from crevices in the walls back of the perches, according to B. H. Edgington of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, who recently discussed fall and early winter poultry problems from the state-wide broadcasting station WEAQ.

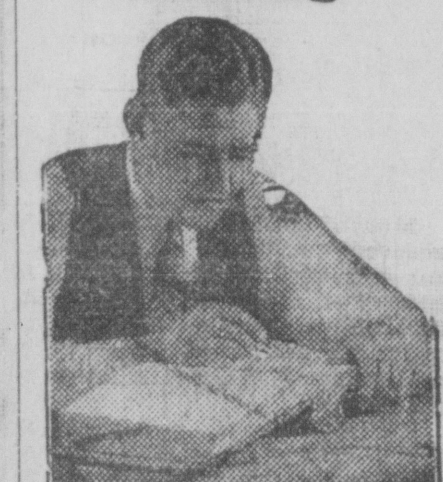

In his talk which was a part of the regular farm night radio program, every Monday night, Edgington said that wide variations in temperature between night and day, long periods of cold, damp weather, and rapid changes of environment are other contributing causes resulting in colds. The disease may affect birds of any age but is most likely to develop in young birds that are in overcrowded quarters or heavily infested with intestinal parasites, lice and mites.

The first symptom of a cold is a clear watery discharge from one or both nostrils. In a few days this discharge becomes viscous, yellowish or grey in color, and resembles pus. As the disease becomes more advanced the discharge dries on the nostrils and interferes with breathing. The affected birds frequently sneeze, appear droopy and may have a watery discharge from the eyes.

Treatment of the individual fowl affected with a cold usually is impractical and rarely profitable unless the bird be of exceptional value. Attempts to administer medicinal agents in the feed seldom are successful owing to the lack of appetite possessed by the sick bird. Fowls affected with colds are best removed from the flock and if the disease is in an advanced stage it is best to destroy them. In attempting to control and prevent colds it is necessary to discover the reason for the low resistance of the birds and then to remove the cause.

Questioned he revealed he had bought it with his own funds; he was compensated and reimbursed.

Fullen, national alumni secretary. The first will be an hour's radio broadcast over a network of three stations on the night of Wednesday, Dec. 2. The other will consist of the customary 75 to 100 simultaneous meetings of Ohio State alumni in all parts of the country and in foreign lands. She draws a salary of $90 a month, which would make many a father of little girls like Thelma decidedly envious. Sen. John Hornsby of Austin, Tex., who is Thelma's home town, got her the job.

EYLAR OPERATES FILLING STATION

E. C. Eylar operates a filling station on N. Court-st near the Forest cemetery which offers Sinclair Oil products. Sinclair Pennsylvania Mobile Motor Oil is one of the best motor oils because: It is, and has been for over a quarter of a century, manufactured from Bradford-Allegheny District, Pennsylvania grade crude oil. It is manufactured in the Sinclair Refining Company's Wells-ville, New York, Refinery, a thoroughly modern plant and the largest in the world operating exclusively on Pennsylvania grade crude oil.

Due to its triple filtration and dewaxing at temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, it is markedly free from carbon-forming materials and wax.

It is not only manufactured by a Refining organization devoting its entire time to the refining of Pennsylvania grade crude oil, but also under the supervision of the Sinclair Refining Company's research Laboratories.

Since automotive and aero engines are lubricated by a supply of motor oil which is used over and over again—mile after mile—the question of change in composition or properties—stability—is important. Sinclair Pennsylvania Mobile Motor Oil has not only stability, but STAY-BILITY.

Denny is believed to be a record-holder in Indiana for taking out a marriage license at his age.

PRINTING SERVICE AT PAUL JOHNSON'S

"Good printing at reasonable prices" is the motto of the Paul A. Johnson Printing Service, located at 124 S. Court-st. Mr. Johnson has been in the printing business for 17 years, 14 of which have been spent in Circleville. He owns his own place of business which houses a most competent printing plant. He employs competent and experienced workmen.

He has modern typesetting machines and can make illustrations from mats furnished him. Another feature of this shop is the sale and rent of typewriters. Mr. Johnson generally has a number of new and old typewriters on hand at all times for sale and rent. He also conducts a repair typewriter department.

At this time of the year many students are making plans and arrangements and are possibly contemplating entering college this fall. There is a better way to make better grades than to type all the required school work. Typewriters may also be purchased here at reasonable prices. Mr. Johnson asks you to call at his shop if you are in need of a typewriter and he guarantees that he can please you with one of his machines.

EDWARD SCHREINER NEW SHOE SHOP

E. A. Schreiner is formally opening his new shoe repair shop at 129 E. Main-st today. This is one of the finest equipped shoe shops in the town and is located in the Eagle's lot.

Mr. Schreiner has a corps of competent assistants and his motto is "Shoe Repairing for Those Who Care." Every single job which comes to his shop is returned to the customer in a satisfactory and pleasing way. Mr. Schreiner has been in the shoe repair business for a number of years and has gained a wide and vast amount of trade through his satisfactory repair method. Also his excellent quick service has also helped bring back trade.

You have your shoes repaired while you wait at this shop in "short order" and they will be returned to you satisfactorily finished.

More about this fine shoe repair shop will be told later. The Business Review suggests that you visit this new shop located at 129 E. Main-st and more or less "partake" of the excellent service.

HOTEL BOGGS MENU FOR THANKSGIVING

The Hotel Boggs is offering a delicious Thanksgiving turkey dinner at a reasonable price. Many persons will undoubtedly take advantage of this excellent dinner. The Business Review suggests that you try this turkey dinner and you will probably find yourself going back each year on Thanksgiving to get this fine dinner. A thought which probably enters the minds of a number of Business Review readers on Saturday night is "Where will we go out for dinner Sunday?" This problem could be permanently solved if the readers of this page would go to the Hotel Boggs for their dinners and parties.

This hotel with nearly a century of service behind it is well-known for its attractive rates and modern and excellent food. Mrs. Boggs has conducted this hotel for a number of years and well understands the business and has always made her aim, "To Please." This probably has won back many customers.

The rates at this hotel are attractive in that they are not too high or out of the reach of the ordinary person's pocketbook. The food is prepared by excellent cooks and is fine.

The Business Review suggests to readers to pay a visit at the Boggs and make of this service and hospitality and it is almost a sure thing that you will go back again.

FARM ELEVATORS BOOST SERVICES

Ohio's 225 companies through which farmers are operating about 265 elevator plants or exchanges are becoming more cooperative, are holding their own in the number of plants operated, and are constantly adding to the types of services offered to their patrons, says E. A. Wallace, rural economist at the Ohio State University. Farmer elevator net earnings for the year are considerably less than in any year since 1927. The 151 companies reporting to the department of rural economics at the state university paid an interest bill averaging $600 each, and set up average reserves of nearly $1,400 each for depreciation and $400 for collectible accounts. After these deductions and the deductions of losses for the 42 companies showing loss, there was a net gain remaining of $225,400, or $6.25 per $100 share of the total $4,085,000 capital stock outstanding. Farmers' elevators have advanced in the variety of supplies handled

ACHIEVEMENT ROUNDUP NOW PLANNED FOR BOY SCOUTS

Organization, plans and instructions have been started for the 1932 Achievement Round-Up of Central Ohio Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. This annual event is one of the largest and most important Boy Scout activities of the year. The dates are from December 1, 1931, to March 13, 1932.

The chief objectives of the 1932 Achievement Round-Up include: 16 New Troops; 700 Net Increase in Scouts; 600 Second Class Scouts; 300 First Class Scouts; Two or More Additional Merit Badges for every First Class Scout.

Being a part of the District or County organization, local Scouts will be in line with the county activities. District or County committees have been appointed to proceed with the work. Members of these committees have been made by the County Chairman.

These committees will aid in the enrollment and advancement of Scouts, in co-operation with the Achievement Round-Up.

It is the earnest desire of the Round-Up Committee to have a net increase in registered Scouts for Central Ohio Area Council of 700. This will give the Central Ohio Area Council a total registered membership of over 4,200 Scouts. This will make up the second largest Council in Region No. 4. (Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia) and among the first twenty in the United States. This will be something to be proud of.

It is hoped that every Scout in the Council will be alert to bring into the Movement Scouts of their acquaintance of clean moral character, and over twelve years of age. Every Troop in the Council should be able to take care of a limited number of additional Scouts.

Boys taken into the Movement during this Round-Up will be known as "Mavericks." They will make their application on special blanks furnished Scoutmasters for this purpose.

Attached to each blank will be found two buttons—one known as a "Maverick" button. This is to be worn by the candidate until the evening of March 26, 1932, at which time he will be invested with the rank of Tenderfoot Scout by a representative of the Chief Scout Executive of the United States as one of the features of the Scout Circus to be held at the Coliseum, at the State Fair Ground, at Columbus. The other button is known as the "I Roped One" button and is to be awarded to the Scout who secured the "Maverick" application as evidence of the fact that he has made his contribution to the Success of the Achievement Round-Up.

SNEEZING FLOCKS FOUND EXPENSIVE

Losses due to colds in the poultry flock may be reduced by guarding against overcrowding, improper ventilation, dampness, insanitation, and drafts from crevices in the walls back of the perches, according to B. H. Edgington of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, who recently discussed fall and early winter poultry problems from the state-owned broadcasting station WEAQ.

In his talk which was a part of the regular farm night radio program, every Monday night, Edgington said that wide variations in temperature between night and day, long periods of cold, damp weather, and rapid changes of environment are other contributing causes resulting in colds. The disease may affect birds of any age but is most likely to develop in young birds that are in overcrowded quarters or heavily infested with intestinal parasites, lice and mites.

The first symptom of a cold is a clear, watery discharge from one or both nostrils. In a few days this discharge becomes viscous, yellowish or grey in color and resembles pus. As the disease becomes more advanced, the discharge dries on the nostrils and interferes with breathing. The affected birds frequently sneeze, appear droopy and may have a watery discharge from the eyes.

Treatment of the individual fowl affected with a cold usually is impractical and rarely profitable unless the bird be of exceptional value. Attempts to administer medicine to agents in the feed seldom are successful owing to the lack of appetite possessed by the sick bird. Fowls affected with colds are best removed from the flock and if the disease is in an advanced stage it is best to destroy them. In attempting to control and prevent colds it is necessary to discover the reason for the low resistance of the birds and then to remove the cause.

LAWNMOWERS IN HAWAII
HONOLULU. — When city and county officials under the guidance of Mayor G. Fred Wright circle the island of Oahu on an inspection, they stopped to admire the exceptionally well kept stretch of roadside at Kaawa, where although brush and weeds were not entirely eradicated a perfect, short cropped lawn was in evidence. K. Hooulu, laborer, in whose charge that particular stretch was invested, was brought before the mayor. As he approached he pushed a brand new lawnmower over the green grass. Questioned he revealed he had bought it with his own funds; he was compensated and reimbursed.

campus station. Major parts in the broadcast will be taken by President G. W. Rightmire, by Football Coach Sam Willaman, and by Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's all-American end of a year ago who is now an assistant varsity coach. Speakers from the campus as usual will carry the message of the university to local meetings scheduled for Friday evening, Dec. 4. Efforts are being made to hold at least one such meeting in each of Ohio's 88 counties, as well as in many centers outside of the state. Arrangements are being made for a number of new local meetings to be held according to Fullen. Among them are meetings at Portland, Ore.; Seattle, Wash.; Fargo, N. Dak.; Tulsa, Okla.; Omaha, Neb.; Atlanta, Ga.; and New Orleans. Meetings known to be in prospect at the greatest distance from the campus are those planned for Paris and for Hilo in the Philippine Islands.

"Ohio State Day" is a tradition unique in American college observances. On that occasion each year alumni gather wherever they may be to renew their contacts with the university and with each other. It has been celebrated for more than 25 years.

LIGHTHOUSE SEASON WAXES
NEW YORK. — Navigation on the Great Lakes comes to a standstill about the first week or two in December every year. The lighthouse service is then discontinued, also. Keepers of the more isolated lighthouses will prepare their stations for the winter and make ready to leave, but even then automatic lights will be put in place at some important stations to guide belated mariners. Radio will play its part in the closing of the lighthouses, for the keepers of the lighthouses will be notified by the radio of the closing of the lighthouses. The last vessel has passed.

FARM ELEVATORS BOOST SERVICES

Ohio's 225 companies through which farmers are operating about 265 elevator plants or exchanges are becoming more cooperative in holding their own in the number of plants operated and are constantly adding to the types of services offered to their patrons. Says B. A. Wallace, rural economist at the Ohio State University: "Farmers are considerably less than a year ago since 1927. The 151 companies reporting to the department of rural commerce at the university paid an interest of $4,000,000 each and an average reserves of nearly $1,400 each for depreciation and $400 for collection of accounts. After these deductions and the deductions of losses for the 42 companies showing loss, there was a net gain remaining of $225,400 or $6.25 per $100 share of the total $4,050,000 capital stock outstanding."

TIGERS PUT THREE GRIDDERS ON JOURNAL'S SECOND TEAM

Fail to Get Player on First Eleven of Buckeye League Selections But Place Hundley, Purcell and Rooney on Second.

Can 99,999 football fans be wrong?

The answer seems to be 'yes,' or waxing sarcastic, 'why not?'

Roughly speaking, 99,999 central Ohio football fans opined that Delaware and Marysville, when admitted into the Central Buckeye league late last winter, would prove far too strong for the circuit and would finish one, two in the final standing with monotonous regularity. But 99,999 football fans—for once—were wrong, if one agrees to limit his judgment to the rapidly-fading grid season.

Delaware and Marysville, although far from being weak sisters, failed to break Bexley's and Grandview's dominance of the league and the Lions and Bobcats again shared the championship laurels.

True, Delaware did defeat Bexley, 7-2, in the final game of the season to force the men of Carlton Smith to divide the spoils with Grandview. But didn't the Bobcats win from Delaware before being swamped, 4-0, by the Lions?

A tie with Marysville deprived Delaware, under the direction of Ervin Carlisle, Columbus, of enjoying a deadlock for the crown with Bexley and Grandview.

The Marysville eleven did not fare so badly, finishing in fourth place, Circleville nosed out Westerville for fifth position in the final standing.

Though Grandview is not, by any means, to be robbed of the glory of a co-championship, Bexley is generally conceded to be the most formidable aggregation in the circuit and the Lions scored 122 points to their opponent's seven in five games to bear out the fact that they were the class of the circuit.

Further emphasizing the Bexleyites' superiority over the other five schools are The State Journal's All-Central Buckeye mythical selections.

The Lions place five players on the first team and two on the second. Grandview is next in line with three representatives on each eleven. Then comes Delaware with two and two, Marysville is fourth, having one grider on each.

Circleville is not represented on the first team but placed three players on the second aggregation. Westerville failed to win a berth on either team.

The selections of Brenning, Pryor, Corcoran, Christian and Phillips on the first eleven were unanimous. Brenning is honored with the captaincy of the team while the second squad's leadership is awarded to Fleming, Delaware center.

Undoubtedly the most outstanding player in the circuit, Brenning, smashing Bexley fullback, deserves the bulk of the credit for the Lion's wonderful showing.

From the Ohio State Journal.

LOCALS LOSE 18-13 GAME

Greenfield's Mastery of Overhead Game Provided Margin in Hot Contest.

Greenfield's football team, with sterling pass attack which baffled the local Merchants' secondary defense, won a hard fought contest here Sunday afternoon by an 18-13 score. Greenfield counted its last touchdown by virtue of two long forward passes with less than a minute to play the last period.

The Merchants started in the lead when Jaggy Davis circled end for 15 yards and a goal. The try for extra point missed. Greenfield then scored twice and the half ended 12-6.

A smash through the center of the line by Gaines Hill gave the Merchants their second touchdown and a fake dropkick with Hill passing to Robinson accounted for the extra point to make the score 13-12.

It looked like a Circleville victory until the last few seconds when Greenfield scored.

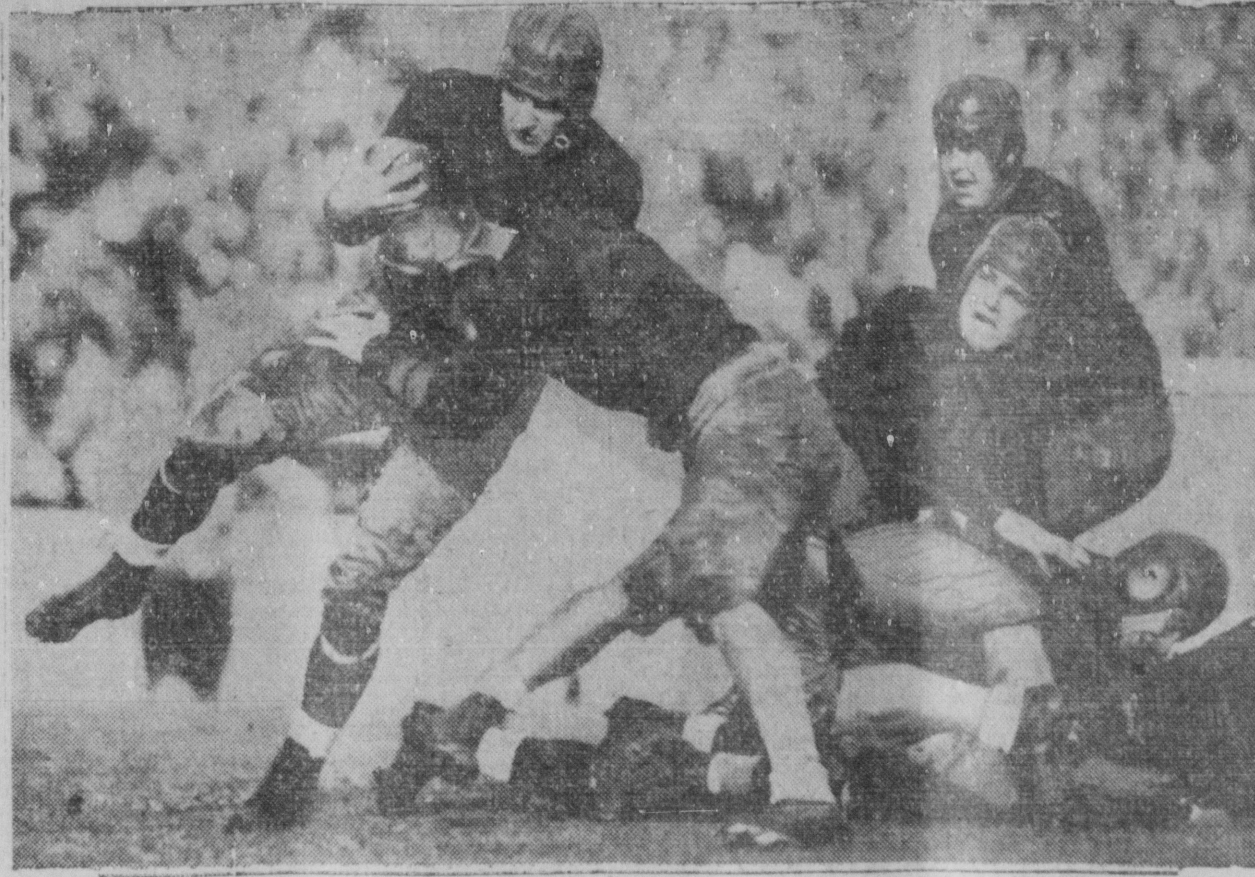

Simmons of Greenfield refereed and Hanley of this city umpired.

NOTRE DAME LOSES, 16 TO 14

Southern California staged a brilliant comeback to win a startling upset after trailing at the end of the third period, 14-0. Johnny Baker booted a ball through the uprights from the Notre Dame 24-yard line in the last seconds of play to give the Californians a 16 to 14 victory. Banas is shown being downed on the Trojan's one-yard line. On the next play Banas crashed over for a touchdown, giving Notre Dame first blood.

ONE POINT MARGIN CAUSES DOWNFALL OF PORTSMOUTH

Ernie Nevers Leads Chicago Cardinals to Thrilling 20-19 Victory in Ocean of Mud; Dutch Clark Proves Game's Star; Green Bay Wins.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Chicago's Cardinals, who handed the champion Green Bay Packers their first defeat last week, continued their surprising attack Sunday, walloping the Portsmouth Spartans, 20 to 19, at Wrigley Field.

For thrills, both from successful passes and open field running, the Spartans and the Cardinals delivered as in no other contest in Chicago this year.

The Spartans dashed to a seven-point lead in the first quarter, only to have the Cardinals equal that touchdown and point in the second period and then assume a six-point advantage on a plunge by Nevers before half-time.

Nevers, however, broke his string of eight consecutive place kicks after touchdowns and the Cardinals left the field boasting 13 to 7 advantage.

In the third period the Spartans came back to tie the score. Dutch Clark ran 59 yards through the entire Cardinal team, and Portsmouth failed to obtain a point lead when Glenn Presnell's attempt for a point by placement was wide.

This was the status of the teams when the last quarter started. The Cardinals pulled ahead again when Nevers plunged over. He also added the point to make the score 20 to 13. That point proved to be the deciding factor, for three minutes before the game ended Portsmouth totaled its third touchdown on a forward pass, Clark to Bill McKelip in the Cardinal end zone.

The result hinged on the Portsmouth try for the point. Gene Alford, standing almost ankle deep in the mud, attempted the kick, but the ball scarcely left the ground. The Chicago game then had possession of the ball until the final whistle.

Portsmouth, previously defeated by New York and Chicago Bears, needed a victory to keep within striking distance of the leading Packers.

In the early season the Cardinals lost to Portsmouth. They also have been beaten by Green Bay and the Bears. Now the Cards have balanced accounts with Green Bay and the Spartans, and on Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock the Cards will face the Bears at Wrigley Field.

Portsmouth's opening first quarter touchdown was made possible after Harry Ebbing, an end, blocked Nevers' punt and recovered the ball on the Cardinal 34-yard line. The Spartans did not get the score immediately, but they forced the of the valuable loot was found was tried on Ross and fitted him perfectly, police said. One of the hunted men is believed to be Frank "St. Louis" Tufano, a member of Chicago's "42" gang. An automobile, registered under his mother's name, was discovered abandoned a short distance from the Mitchell home.

William H. Mitchell, who was entertaining a group of friends when the bandits entered, is the son of the late John J. Mitchell, millionaire banker. The other victims of the robbery were Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr., Ralph J. Hines, Mrs. Louise Bowen Phelps, and Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair.

Police were summoned to the scene by a chauffeur, William Matheson, who slipped upstairs while the bandits were stripping the women's necks, arms and hands of expensive ornaments and taking cash from the men. A few minutes after Matheson's telephone call to headquarters, a squad of police burst in and opened fire. A gun battle ensued in the drawing room, but the robbers succeeded in escaping through windows and doors.

Ross and Perello were arrested on a suburban train and Maentis was taken into custody on a street in Highland park.

TERRIER FIGHTS PANTHER

BUENOS AIRES—A fox-terrier is not built to fight panthers, but one of the breed recently tackled life of its mistress and is now almost a national hero. A pet panther broke loose and wandered into a lady's back yard where she was hanging out the family washing. Sensing his mistress' danger, Bobby, the little fox-terrier, proceeded to stalk the panther from the rear. Bobby grabbed him by the tail and started to chew it off. Try as he would the panther could not dislodge his opponent. Finally a well-directed bullet from a policeman's gun ended the fray for the happiness of all concerned—except the panther.

INCREASE IN SHIPPING

WINNIPEG, Manitoba—Canada is shipping more grain than she has for years. Figures for the month of October show a decided increase over those of the previous two years, according to reports. Marketings for October, 1931, totaled 43,242,000 bushels, as compared with 20,054,000 bushels in October, 1929. On October 30, 1931, there were 33,689,000 bushels in store in country elevators on Canadian National Railways compared with 23,435,000 bushels at the corresponding time last year. A total of 52,799,000 bushels of grain were in store at all elevators at the head of the Great Lakes.

STAR MISSES WOMEN

PARIS—Paris is no paradise for women, according to Paul Fejos, Hungarian movie star who is sojourning in the capital. "France is fine," said Fejos, speaking English with a Central European accent, "and I like Paris very much, but there aren't any women around. And those I do find are either married or engaged. They're pretty all right, prettier than those we have in Hollywood, but they're all so busy." Fejos says he is going to throw a huge banquet when he gets back to the States for women only—three hundred of them at least!

WORK PROGRESSES ON NEW BUILDING

Work on Wayne-twp's new school building is progressing rapidly, according to an announcement made Monday, and the work of decorating the interior of the building began this week.

While the building is being completed children from that township are being schooled at St. Joseph's here.

ED. PRIOR, 67, DIES

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Edward Prior, 67, a state cigarette tax inspector and president of the Columbus Ice-Supply and Coal Company, was dead here today of heart disease.

He was formerly president of the Ohio Brewing Company and an official of the Gambinus Brewing Company.

Prior is survived by a son, Edward Prior, Jr., a sister, Miss Laura Prior, and two daughters, Mrs. Oscar Wiechers and Miss Laura Prior.

CHILEAN STEEL COMBINE

SANTIAGO, Chile.—The right to erect plants for the manufacture of coke for metallurgical purposes and also for the distillation of coal has been granted the Santiago Gas Company through a government decree. A second project with prospect of creating a steel industry in Chile consists of a combination between a Chilean Coal Company, a Krupp of Essen and the Chilean government. The Chilean company will contribute valuable coal and iron mines, while the German interests and the Chilean government are to subscribe several millions in cash.

Mrs. Helen Stout of Columbus was a visitor in Circleville Monday.

John Peters, president of the Wayne-twp board of education, is recuperating after an illness.

He Is a Good Customer
SANTA Claus has transferred his headquarters to the United States. Though this good old saint undoubtedly is of European origin, he has found so large a part of his business in America that he has thought best to bring his facilities for toy making across the Atlantic.

The United States department of commerce has been checking up the activities of Santa Claus and has found that 95 per cent of the toys distributed to children in the United States are made in this country. Twenty years ago half the toys were imported.

It is no small deal that St. Nicholas makes with the manufacturers. Production of toys in the United States during 1928 amounted in value to $75,000,000, more than twice the output of Germany, which always is thought of as toyland. Moreover, wherever there is a market for toys, those made in America are known as among the most expensive, the most carefully made and the most artistically designed.

American toys, as is the way with toys the world over, reflect the serious activities of the grown-ups. More than a quarter of all toys made in the United States are what are known as "wheel toys." Among these toy automobiles take the lead. Vast quantities have been displayed in inventing, designing and manufacturing these make-believe motor cars, and some of the most expensive ones are complete with all the accessories from the windshield cleaner to the spare tire and tail light.

Maternal instincts of little Miss America find gratification in $12-100,000 worth of dolls manufactured last year and require as many "accessories" as automobiles. There are manufacturing industries of creditable size engaged exclusively in making dolls' clothing, dolls' stockings and shoes, dolls' houses and furniture and dolls' carriages. These side issues in the doll business account for more than $5,000,000 worth of products.

There is said to be a disposition in some quarters to charge this fellow, Santa Claus, with being a fake, but the American business world will stand up for him. He is too good a customer to lose.

"Xmas"
NOW that Christmas is just around the corner again one expects to encounter the abbreviated "Xmas" in many places, and hear many complaints and protests from those who object to this shortening of the word "Christmas."

One objection to shortening Christmas to Xmas is the pitfall of pronunciation. With the use of the brief form has grown a tendency to read it "Exmas," an unpardonable barbarism. So pronounced, the word is quite open to the criticisms of it which clergymen and others have expressed.

X, however, as an abbreviation of Christ, has a history as old almost as Christianity. In catacomb inscriptions it stands for Christos, the first letter being chi. The Letter X, the English equivalent of chi, meaning Christ, has the sanction of ancient usage unquestionably.

Dictionaries and encyclopedias include Xmas among the abbreviations of recognized standing, also X for Christian. They do not stigmatize it as colloquial or vulgar. Still, there is a feeling for words that impels most persons with a verbal conscience to spell Christmas out in full. To many Christmas is a beautiful word, while Xmas is not.

On the score of good taste the appeal for the disuse of Xmas is persuasive. However circumstances can alter cases. Certainly not even the ministry object to use of the contracted form in the newspaper headline, where space is as precious as it was on the tablets of the catacombs.

Xmas is a respectful term to those who look upon the X as symbolical of the Christian cross, and it is unlikely any would object to its use if this symbolism were universally recognized.

LARGEST DAM IN BRAZIL
BANANEIRAS (State of Bahia)—The largest dam of its kind in South America, recently completed by a Brazilian subsidiary of an American firm, has just been inaugurated according to the report of Consul Lawrence F. Briggs at Bahia. It will furnish electric power to the City of Bahia and the surrounding territory. The dam is approximately 1,150 feet long, 197 feet wide at the base, and has an average height of 131 feet. It is of the arch-type, of reinforced concrete construction, and impounds 120,000,000 cubic feet of water. It increases the capacity of the power house at Bananeiras from 4,000 to 9,000 kilowatts, and further modification will raise it to 18,000 kilowatts.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST
At Monkilver, a country place outside London, Paul Federoff is slain after carrying the Zarina Rubies from Russia. The murderers fail to find the gems, which therefore must be hidden in the house, Frank Severn, who entrusted the rubies to Federoff in Russia, returns to England, is abducted and carried unconscious to Monkilver.

Meanwhile his friend, Jim Wynter, meets beautiful Katharine Faring, rightful owner of the rubies as heiress to the Russian prince who lost his life saving them from a mob. Once a concert violinist, she has been reduced to penury by an injury to her wrist.

Katharine suggests to Wynter that Severn may be imprisoned at Monkilver and he goes there at night, to find Severn's servant, Creyke, dead from a stab wound in a car inside the grounds. Hearing a groan within the house, he steals in, is attacked and falls downstairs. Hours later he regains consciousness in the house of a Dr. Martell, whose stepdaughter, Helen, attends him. Friends call for Wynter.

NOW GO ON CHAPTER XX

Without wasting time on explanations, Jim Wynter went upstairs to make a hurried change. When he came down ten minutes later it was to find a just-arrived Sant, too, in the drawing-room.

"Dr. Martell and I, as it happens, had no need of an introduction; met at a city banquet quite lately," Sant cried in his booming, boisterous voice. "But what's this I hear, Wynter, about your being brought here drugged?"

"I'll tell you all about it in the car," Wynter said. He shook hands with Helen. "Good-by and thank you so much, Miss Blair."

"Helen and I hope you'll come and see us again, Mr. Wynter," Martell said as he walked with his guests to the door.

"Thanks very much. Of course there's nothing I'd like better."

Wynter lingered behind, as Sant and the Graysons walked toward the gate, to thank his host warmly. But Martell cut him short with his pleasant laugh.

"Oh, nonsense, my dear fellow. It was a pleasure, of course. Let me know if you have good news of your friend Severn. Good-by."

And flourished a genial hand in smiling farewell as Wynter glanced back from the gate.

A GOOD ACTOR
It was curious how Dr. Martell's face seemed to change as he turned to go back into the house. A queer smile had crept into it. A smile that had nothing in it of that kindly good-humored quality that Jim Wynter had found so pleasantly likable.

Jim Wynter passed out through the gate to the two waiting cars to find the Graysons and Sant impatient for his news.

So far they knew little more than that he had been brought in a drugged condition to this house. Of Creyke's fate they had evidently not heard a word from Dr. Martell whilst he had been upstairs changing.

"Jim, I've been suggesting to Mr. Sant that he should drive back with us; I expect he's as keen as we are to hear what's been happening to you."

MOTHERS sometimes complain that it is difficult to get their children to bed early. In some instances it may be the fault of the mother who is too lenient. In other cases the children may be too late.

The importance of sufficient sleep and relaxation for children cannot be over-emphasized. Children who are permitted to remain up until all hours of the night suffer startling setbacks.

I fear that most parents do not realize the great danger that children are subjected to when they remain up late at night. In addition to the loss of necessary sleep, these children acquire bad habits. When children are permitted to keep their irregular hours they soon complain that they cannot sleep. If they are sent to bed early they do not sleep.

Remember that sleep is a habit. Once a habit has been established it is difficult to change. When a child has been taught to go to sleep at a certain hour, he has acquired a good habit. It will help to build up a foundation of good health.

On the other hand, when a child has been permitted to stay up late at night, he soon finds it impossible to go to bed early. Such a habit is to be condemned. It is detrimental to his health.

LEAVES ICE FOR WINTER
MONTREAL, Que.—Like men of any other line of business, Captain J. E. Bernier, famous for his many trips to Arctic region

you," Milly said. "But I understand you want to see the Richmond police first."

"Yes, I've got to see them—and then go with 'em to that house where I was knocked out. I'm sorry, Milly, but I'm afraid it means your driving home alone, because I rather want Bill to come along with Sant and me."

Milly pouted. "But it won't be very much fun for me to drive home alone. Why shouldn't I come along, too?" she demanded.

"I fancy Monkilver's about the last place you'll want to go to," Wynter said gravely. "When I tell you that murder was done there last night."

SHOCKED
"A murder at Monkilver!" broke in Sant, his face like Billy Grayson's suddenly startled, whilst Milly gave a little gasp.

"Murder by those men who drugged me. And probably we shall find the dead man still there. It's unlikely the crime will have been discovered yet behind the gates of that empty house."

"You said you'd traced Severn to Monkilver," cried Sant—"you don't mean it's Severn, that dead man?"

Wynter shook his head, and Sant's startled face showed a swift relief. "No, not Severn. The man who drove Severn to Monkilver."

Milly had lost all desire to accompany them after this news. She drove off alone, whilst Bill and Wynter got into Sant's car.

"Sant, that dead man was someone you knew," Wynter said, as they started—"Creyke!"

"Creyke? My God!" Sant turned a suddenly white, half incredulous face to him. "But what should Creyke be doing at Monkilver? And he was the man who drove Severn there?"

"Yes. They passed me in Richmond. And I haven't a doubt that Severn was drugged. Unconscious anyway. Was Creyke in the conspiracy against him? And yet, if an accomplice of theirs, why should these men have killed him?"

"But what made you think of Monkilver?" demanded Sant suddenly. "Why should you have guessed Creyke was driving there?"

"Oh I knew Monkilver was a house belonging to Severn—and made notorious by the murder of that Russian."

Wynter did not refer to the Zarina Rubies, supposedly lying hidden at Monkilver; he must get Katharine's permission before speaking of what so far had been a secret between her and Frank Severn. Nothing of that queer story behind the crime had come out at the inquest on the murdered man. But of course the police would have had to be told of those jewels. They might prove a valuable clue, if the unknown men who had kidnapped Severn were the same men who had murdered his messenger, Federoff.

INCREDULOUS
"There's no caretaker now at Monkilver," Sant said. "You see, no one would stay at the place after that tragic affair some weeks ago. The keys are with a local firm of house agents—we'll call for them on our way," Sant paused. Then suddenly: "I suppose you are dead sure of your facts, Wynter?"

Children who keep irregular hours, usually have bad dispositions. They are ill-tempered. They whine and cry for anything and everything. They get cross and are ill-tempered, not because of a really bad disposition, perhaps, but because they just do not get sufficient sleep. They are not rested and, of course, are disagreeable.

Too much play is as dangerous as too little sleep. Children who have played excessively are apt to be restless when they are put to bed. In consequence they are unable to sleep. They have played so hard, they are all worn out as a result of their excessive fatigue. They become stimulated to such an extent that they cannot sleep.

No doubt you have undergone similar experiences. Do you ever recall being so tired you could not sleep? The day for the child should be planned in such a way that there is time for play, as well as time set aside for rest. When such a routine is kept, the child will have an appetite, eat his food and digest it. He will put on weight, grow and develop, as the normal child should.

It is well to remember that after the last meal of the day young children should not be permitted to romp boisterously. If play is permitted, it should be mild in its nature. A bedtime approach quiet should be maintained. All undue excitement should be avoided as much as possible.

For young children, as well as older ones and adults, too, it is a good plan to darken the sleeping-room. Such a room promotes sleep. The radio should not be going full blast at bedtime, and the house should be kept as quiet as possible. Undue noises will keep a child awake.

These few suggestions are worth while even though they may prove inconvenient to you for a short time. When your child has acquired the good habit of going to bed early and sleeping restfully, scoldings and quarrels disappear.

Answers to Health Queries
A.—They should weigh respectively about 137 and 132 pounds. This is about the average weight for people of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

"Thank You." Q.—What do you advise for dandruff?

A.—Brush the hair daily and use board ships sent by the Canadian Government, like variety. For the captain it is variety to spend the winter in the south. He has sailed for Jamaica and for one winter he will be warm.

Wynter stared at him. "How do you mean—sure?" he demanded. "Well, you were drugged—and we all know drugs will sometimes play queer tricks on the mind," Sant said bluntly.

"You mean I may have imagined it all? A sort of De Quincey nightmare?" The younger man's voice was amused.

"Oh, I don't say that, since you're so positive. Still it does seem a bit incongruous that, if it really was at Monkilver you were drugged, these men should have troubled to drive you all the way to Staines, dump you in a doctor's hands. Murderers aren't usually so surprisingly considerate."

"Well, it's not the only thing that's surprising or puzzling in this affair," retorted Jim Wynter drily. "I shall be only too glad if you can prove me mistaken about that poor chap's death."

Richmond was reached. The car drew up outside the police station. Sant happened to know the inspector on duty.

"Good afternoon, inspector. This is my friend Mr. Wynter who has a rather startling statement to make. By the way no murder in this neighborhood has been reported to you today, I suppose?" Sant asked.

The inspector looked surprised.

"No. What do you mean, Mr. Sant?"

"Well, Mr. Wynter believes one to have been committed about midnight not far from here. But he'll tell you himself."

QUESTIONS
And once again Jim Wynter had to recount his experiences.

"And you say you found the gates of the drive chained up again after the car had passed through?" the inspector asked.

"Yet it happens to be a Yale padlock—one that I don't think even an expert would find easy to pick and relock again," put in Sant. "The only key to it is at Faulkings, the estate agent people here."

"So that was why you were a bit skeptical about my story. Sant was it?" cried Wynter. "It does seem rummy. It will be interesting to learn from Faulkings if any one has applied to view the house lately."

"I'll beg a lift in your car, Mr. Sant, and we'll go on to Monkilver straightaway," said the inspector, giving instructions to one of his men to follow on his bicycle.

At the house-agents office, where they called for the keys, Sant was informed that not one solitary application had been made to view Monkilver since the murder of that Russian there had given the house a bad name, and that the keys had not been out of their possession. The clerk was both emphatic on that point and surprised at the question. Sant did not explain why he had put the question.

They drove on to Monkilver and the gates still chained up, secured as Sant had said by an intricate Yale padlock.

It could not have been much more than ten minutes after the car had passed through these gates last night that he had reached them, Jim Wynter remembered—and within those ten minutes that padlock had been unfastened and relocked, and Creyke come off his death. A duplicate key must have been used; quite obviously in that brief space of time such a lock could not have been first picked and then closed again.

AT THE CLIFTONA
"What price divorce?" That is the question propounded by Paramount in "The Road to Reno," feature picture which heads the screen bill at the Cliftona tomorrow and Wednesday.

Miss Tashman is an habitual divorcee. Her own children, Peggy Shannon and Tom Douglas, have become accustomed to the frequent severing of the marital ties from sundry husbands, but now they are greatly devoted to the current one, Irving Pichel. Pichel, a mining engineer, is broadminded, substantial, devoted to his wife and children. But the flighty Lilyan, grasping a picaresque excuse, decides to divorce him.

She goes to Reno, taking Peggy with her. On the way they meet Charles "Buddy" Rogers, young college graduate who has just won his degree in engineering and who is on his way to India to work for a big construction corporation.

Rogers falls in love with Peggy and asks her to go out to India with him as his wife. The girl dallies. They stay in Reno, and Peggy meets William Boyd, one of the "Renobles," who is currently divorcing Judith Wood, his latest wife.

Boyd is fascinated by Peggy's beauty. He lavishes attention on her, and Rogers writhes in the bitterness of an apparently frustrated love.

There follows a series of glamorous and amorous events, couched in the ultra-modern gaiety and strange excitements of this unique divorce-mill town.

AT THE GRAND
Daring experiments of intrepid American airmen in the last half-dozen years have resulted in remarkable progress of modern aviation. Amazing new records in endurance flying, cross-country treks and round-the-world flights have been hung up in this period, with even more progress apparent in the offing.

"Dirigible," Columbia Pictures' epic of the air, which is playing at the Grand Theatre, is a pictorial record of some of the most important of these achievements. Laid in a fiction setting, it presents incidents which audiences will immediately recognize as conquests of the air previously reported in the daily newspapers.

Jack Holt, who plays the dirigible commander, took a thorough grounding in the principles of the craft's construction and piloting before stepping into the role. Ralph Graves, who has the role of his dare-devil buddy, also studied the technical aspects of his subject for several weeks before actual filming was commenced on the picture.

OHIO OCTOBER IN Juries Low

The fatalities incident to employment in Ohio industries in October numbered 67, the lowest number for any one month since April, 1928, when the total was 63, and bettered only once prior to that time, in April, 1926, when 66 workers met death by industrial accident. This record is in striking contrast to the fatalities for recent months, 109 in September, 119 in August and 126 in July.

October fatalities were distributed among industrial groups as follows: Chemicals and allied products and mining, 8 each; building erection and demolition and commercial employment, 7 each; public employees 5; construction and metal goods manufacture, 4 each; vehicle manufacture, utilities, cartage and trucking, and care and custody of buildings and grounds, 3 each; food and beverages, blast furnaces, steel works and rolling mills and clerical and professional employment, 2 each; clay, glass and stone products, leather and leather goods, lumber and wood products, machinery, manufacture, rubber and composition goods, quarries and stone crushing, one each. Seven groups had no fatalities.

There were 15,305 non-fatal injury and occupational disease claims filed during the month, 2,454 being charged to metal goods, 2,454 to commercial employment, 2,325 to the two branches of construction, 899 to foods and beverages and 730 to public employees. The time loss due to all accidents, both fatal and non-fatal, was 662,497 days. In the preceding month there were 15,419 non-fatal and a time loss of 893,691 days.

Pickaway-co's record for October was 42 accidents, of which none were fatal, none caused permanent partial disability, 15 caused over seven days lost time, 5 seven days or less and 22 medical cases causing no time loss. The total time loss for the county was 396 days.

ATTACKS VAGRANCY LAW
NEW YORK.—The strict vagrancy statute, recently passed by a special session of the legislature as a greater defensive weapon in the extermination of racketeers and gangsters, contains many "errors and inequalities" in the opinion of Magistrate E. R. Rudich. He says the new statute makes the prosecutors' duties more difficult. Before obtaining a conviction, it is now necessary to prove that the defendants bore evil reputations and that they consorted for an unlawful purpose with convicted criminals.

SIOUX CITY.—For twenty-nine years Paul Clark had a toothache. Repeated extractions failed to relieve the pain. Not wanting to live always with his tooth aching, Clark had an X-ray picture taken. The X-ray revealed a knife blade two inches long imbedded in his jaw. Then the patient recalled that in 1902 he was in a fight at Plymouth, Ohio, when he received a cut on the jaw—the doctor had sewed up the wound without probing it. Now Paul Clark is free of the toothache and he can vouch for the durability of good steel.

New Plan by Makers of Vicks Cuts the High Cost of Colds

Save Money, Time and Health by Better "Control-of-Colds"

Test of Plan Offered by Circleville Druggists on Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results.

The high costs of colds are more than ever a problem this winter. In every family, therefore, it is news of peculiar interest that the makers of Vicks VapoRub have developed a Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. A Plan to reduce the number, the severity and the costs of colds.

A New Vicks Product
The Plan is made possible by a new preparation—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea—"preventing" colds, it is a combination to Vicks VapoRub, the modern external way of "treating" colds. The two aid and supplement each other. Together, they make possible further reduction of the burdensome family "Cold-Tax."

Trick Offer to VapoRub Users
Use of this Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in your home will mean fewer colds—less severe colds. It will mean cutting your high costs of cold troubles—a saving in money, loss of time and health. To say nothing of the discomforts of colds and the severe ills that often follow colds. The Plan for yourself—without risk. Get a bottle of the new Vicks Drops today. Use it with Vicks VapoRub as directed. Unless results are entirely satisfactory, your druggist will refund the price of the Nose Drops—and the trick will have cost you nothing.

Here, briefly, is the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1.—Before a Cold Starts

Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to give you a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold—inhaling smoke, dust, gases—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking—after a hard day, when you are over tired.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—Nature's warning that you are actually "catching cold."

2.—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in "stainless form," if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bedclothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops, actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing," which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children—and lowers body resistance to disease at a time when it is most needed. Don't "dose" colds except on your doctor's advice.

He Is a Good Customer

SANTA Claus has transferred his headquarters to the United States.

Though this good old saint undoubtedly is of European origin, he has found so large a part of his business in America that he has thought best to bring his facilities for toy making across the Atlantic.

The United States department of commerce has been checking up the activities of Santa Claus and has found that 95 per cent of the toys distributed to children in the United States are made in this country. Twenty years ago half the toys were imported.

It is no small deal that St. Nicholas makes with the manufacturers. Production of toys in the United States during 1928 amounted in value to $75,000,000, more than twice the output of Germany, which always is thought of as toyland. Moreover, wherever there is a market for toys, those made in America are known as among the most expensive, the most carefully made and the most artistically designed.

American toys, as is the way with toys the world over, reflect the serious activities of the grown-ups. More than a quarter of all toys made in the United States are what are known as "wheel toys."

Among these toy automobiles take the lead. Vast ingenuity has been displayed in inventing, designing and manufacturing these make-believe motor cars, and some of the most expensive ones are complete with all the accessories from the windshield cleaner to the spare tire and tail light.

Maternal instincts of little Miss America find gratification in $12,000,000 worth of dolls manufactured last year and require as many "accessories" as automobiles. There are manufacturing industries of creditable size engaged exclusively in making dolls' clothing, dolls' stockings and shoes, dolls' houses and furniture and dolls' carriages. These side issues in the doll business account for more than $5,000,000 worth of products.

There is said to be a disposition in some quarters to charge this fellow Santa Claus, with being a fake, but the American business world will stand up for him. He is too good a customer to lose.

"Xmas"

NOW that Christmas is just around the corner again one expects to encounter the abbreviated "Xmas" in many places, and hear many complaints and protests from those who object to this shortening of the word "Christmas."

One objection to shortening Christmas to Xmas is the pitfall of pronunciation. With the use of the brief form has grown a tendency to read it "Exmas," an unpardonable barbarism. So pronounced, the word is quite open to the criticisms of it which clergymen and others have expressed.

X, however, as an abbreviation of Christ, has a history as old almost as Christianity. In catacombs inscriptions it stands for Christos, the first letter being chi. The letter X, the English equivalent of chi, meaning Christ, has the sanction of ancient usage unquestionably.

Dictionaries and encyclopedias include Xmas among the abbreviations of recognized standing, also Xn for Christian. They do not stigmatize it as colloquial or vulgar. Still, there is a feeling for words that impels most persons with a verbal conscience to spell Christmas out in full. To many, Christmas is a beautiful word while Xmas is not.

On the score of good taste the appeal for the disuse of Xmas is persuasive. However, circumstances may alter cases. Certainly not even the ministry which is the custodian of the Christian religion is as scrupulous as it was in the tables of the catechism.

Xmas is a respectful term to those who work under the X as symbol of the Christian cross, and it is well to give some thought to the use of the word in the Christmas season.

The CZARINAS RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST

At Monksilver, a country place outside London, Paul Federoff is slain after carrying the Czarina Rubies from Russia. The murderers must be hidden in the house. Frank Severn, who entrusted the rubies to Federoff in Russia, returns to England, is abducted and carried unconscious to Monksilver.

Meanwhile his friend, Jim Wynter, meets beautiful Katharine Faring, rightful owner of the rubies as heiress to the Russian prince who lost his life saving them from a mob. Once a concert violinist, she has been reduced to penury by an injury to her wrist.

Katharine suggests to Wynter that Severn may be imprisoned at Monksilver and he goes there at night, to find Severn's servant, Creyke, dead from a stab wound in a car inside the grounds. Hearing a groan within the house, he steals in, is attacked and falls downstairs. Hours later he regains consciousness in the house of a Dr. Martell, whose stepdaughter, Helen, attends him. Friends call for Wynter.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER XX

Without wasting time on explanations, Jim Wynter went upstairs to make a hurried change. When he came down ten minutes later it was to find a just-arrived Sant, too, in the drawing-room.

"Dr. Martell and I, as it happens, had no need of an introduction; met at a city banquet quite lately," Sant cried in his booming, boisterous voice. "But what's this I hear, Wynter, about your being brought here drugged?"

"I'll tell you all about it in the car," Wynter said. He shook hands with Helen. "Good-by and thank you so much, Miss Blair."

"Helen and I hope you'll come and see us again, Mr. Wynter," Martell said as he walked with his guests to the door.

"Thanks very much. Of course there's nothing I'd like better," Wynter lingered behind, as Sant and the Graysons walked toward the gate, to thank his host warmly. But Martell cut him short with his pleasant laugh.

"Oh, nonsense, my dear fellow. It was a pleasure, of course. Let me know if you have good news of your friend Severn. Good-by."

And flourished a genial hand in smiling farewell as Wynter glanced back from the gate.

A GOOD ACTOR

It was curious how Dr. Martell's face seemed to change as he turned to go back into the house. A queer smile had crept into it. A smile that had nothing in it of that kindly good-humored quality that Jim Wynter had found so pleasantly likable.

Jim Wynter passed out through the gate to the two waiting cars to find the Graysons and Sant impatient for his news.

So far they knew little more than that he had been brought in a drugged condition to this house. Of Creyke's fate they had evidently not heard a word from Dr. Martell whilst he had been upstairs changing.

"Jim, I've been suggesting to Mr. Sant that he should drive back with us; I expect he's as keen as we are to hear what's been happening to you," Milly said. "But I understand you want to see the Richmond police first."

"Yes, I've got to see them—and then go with 'em to that house where I was knocked out. I'm sorry, Milly, but I'm afraid it means your driving home alone, because I rather want Bill to come along with Sant and me."

Milly pouted. "But it won't be very much fun for me to drive home alone. Why shouldn't I come along, too?" she demanded.

"I fancy Monksilver's about the last place you'll want to go to," Wynter said gravely, "when I tell you that murder was done there last night."

SHOCKED

"A murder at Monksilver!" broke in Sant, his face like Billy Grayson's suddenly startled, whilst Milly gave a little gasp.

"Murder by those men who drugged me. And probably we shall find the dead man still there. It's unlikely the crime will have been discovered yet behind the gates of that empty house."

"You said you'd traced Severn to Monksilver," cried Sant—"you don't mean it's Severn, that dead man?"

Wynter shook his head, and Sant's startled face showed a swift relief.

"No, not Severn. The man who drove Severn to Monksilver."

Milly had lost all desire to accompany them after this news. She drove off alone, whilst Bill and Wynter got into Sant's car.

"Sant, that dead man was someone you knew," Wynter said, as they started—"Creyke?"

"Creyke? My God!" Sant turned a suddenly white, half incredulous face to him. "But what should Creyke be doing at Monksilver? And he was the man who drove Severn there?"

"Yes, They passed me in Richmond. And I haven't a doubt that Severn was drugged. Unconscious anyway. Was Creyke in the conspiracy against him? And yet, if an accomplice of theirs, why should these men have killed him?"

"But what made you think of Monksilver?" demanded Sant suddenly. "Why should you have guessed Creyke was driving there?"

"Oh I knew Monksilver was a house belonging to Severn—and made notorious by the murder of that Russian."

Wynter did not refer to the Czarina Rubies, supposedly lying hidden at Monksilver; he must get Katharine's permission before speaking of what so far had been a secret between her and Frank Severn. Nothing of that queer story behind the crime had come out at the inquest on the murdered man. But of course the police would have had to be told of those jewels. They might prove a valuable clue, if the unknown men who had kidnapped Severn were the same men who had murdered his messenger, Federoff.

INCREDULOUS

"There's no caretaker now at Monksilver," Sant said. "You see, no one would stay at the place after that tragic affair some weeks ago. The keys are with a local firm of house agents—we'll call for them on our way," Sant paused. Then suddenly: "I suppose you are dead sure of your facts, Wynter?"

Wynter stared at him. "How do you mean—sure?" he demanded.

"Well, you were drugged—and we all know drugs will sometimes play queer tricks on the mind," Sant said bluntly.

"You mean I may have imagined it all?" sort of De Quincey might have asked.

"Oh, I don't say that, since you're so positive. Still it does seem a bit incongruous that, if it really was at Monksilver you were drugged, these men should have troubled to drive you all the way to Staines, dump you in a doctor's hands. Murderers aren't usually so surprisingly considerate."

"Well, it's not the only thing that's surprising or puzzling in this affair," retorted Jim Wynter drily. "I shall be only too glad if you can prove me mistaken about that poor chap's death."

Richmond was reached. The car drew up outside the police station. Sant happened to know the inspector on duty.

Mary Astor

Lovely woman and richly endowed actress, Mary Astor has come into her own as one of Hollywood's truly great. Forgotten the roles that were hers in silent days—now she's doing big things grandly! "Smart Woman," a Radio Picture, is her latest.
